While we stay safe and indoors, we're finding our world changing. Our routines, our businesses, and our connection. We try to alleviate these problems as much as possible by maintaining any ounce of normalcy. This can be done through apps such as Zoom.

Many companies, worldwide, are using Zoom to maintain their daily routines and others are finding ways to connect with friends and family. Thankfully we live in a virtual world that allows us to connect when we physically can't.

So, whether you are working remotely or organizing a virtual happy hour, iStock is adding a little more joy with FREE Zoom Backgrounds. No more blank walls or trying to hide your child's "art", instead turn your background from drab to fab!

Roam with the dinosaurs or take a trip to the moon, these free backgrounds will keep everyone's spirits up.

With the lighter side of social-distancing at home taken care of, iStock also knows that business still needs to be taken care of. However, due to this trying time, iStock is also aware that some of their clients may be experiencing a financial impact. For this, they've curated a selection of FREE images for any COVID-19 communications.

The last thing you need right now is to worry about your image budget, so head over to iStock's site and see what they have to offer. Just because we're in uncertain times, doesn't mean we're not in it together.
